

U.S. ARMY MATERIEL COMMAND

CG SENDS: COVID-19 UPDATE, 7 APR 2020

Army Materiel Command team,

As each week goes by, I am inspired by your commitment, dedication and resilience through these trying times.

Last week, I highlighted some of your great work in combatting COVID-19. Not only have you successfully shifted focus where needed, but you have done so while continuing to accomplish our critical missions in support of our warfighters deployed around the world. Even as you operate in different environments, you - our worldwide workforce of 190,000 Soldiers, Civilians and Contractors - are being innovative and adaptive in delivering logistics, sustainment and materiel readiness from the installation to the forward tactical edge.

- Army Sustainment Command's 401st Army Field Support Brigade continues to move Army Prepositioned Stocks equipment around the Central Command theater in support of operations without interruption.
- Army Security Assistance Command continues to execute Foreign Military Sales cases around the globe, such as HIMARS for Romania.
- Depots continue to recapitalize and reset Army equipment, including aircraft at Corpus Christi Army Depot critical to ongoing operations in Afghanistan and Iraq.
- Surface Deployment and Distribution Command is conducting three active munitions port operations on the East and West Coasts and in Alaska, loading resupply vessels to provide ammo to support Army operations.
- Installation Management Command continues to work modernization and expansion of critical Strategic Power Projection infrastructure for deploying and redeploying troops.

I am absolutely confident that because of the hard work and foundation we built to set the conditions for success, we are ready and accomplishing our missions. We must continue to set good standards, execute with discipline and hold ourselves accountable within our core competencies. Our Army is counting on us to do no less.

Keep up the great work!
